

British Values

11th-17th March

Mutual Respect

There will be times when we feel happy, and times when we feel sad. It's important we support each other during difficult times and celebrate together the things that make us happy!