Newsletter Friday
14th February 2025

Dear Parents & Carers,

This week we held our Parents' Evening. Thank you to those families who were able to take the time to attend; if you were unable to make it this time please speak to your child's teacher to arrange a convenient time to discuss your child's progress.

Last week Hazel class shared their learning across the year so far with their family members and the classes in Williamson House. The audience really enjoyed finding out about life in Y3/4.

Last week marked Children's Mental Health Week. We launched the week with a special assembly to share the theme of 'Know Yourself, Grow Yourself!'. The children have been learning that when we take notice of ourselves and how we feel, we are able to make better choices and be more connected with our feelings and behaviours. The week finished with a non-uniform day where the children were encouraged to dress to show their personality.

This half term we have been focussing on our core value of Courage. Through our assemblies we have learned about Martin Luther King Jnr, Holocaust Memorial Day, St. Valentine and LGBTQ+ History month. Next term we will be moving on to focus on our core value of Determination.

Finally, I would like to remind everyone that school closes for the half term holiday today. We hope that everyone has an enjoyable break and look forward to welcoming everyone back to school on Monday 24th February 2025.

Best Wishes

Kevin Corteen.

In Reception we have been working with clay this half term. The outcome of this work has been to make a hedgehog. The children have used different techniques to make the spikes on the hedgehog's backs and they have explored different ways to make the hedgehog's noses.

As it is Valentine's Day this week, the Reception children have been using heart shapes in our creative area. They have been really imaginative in the ways they have used them.

Happy Valentine's Day from Elm Class!

English in Acorn class

This week we have been reading 'The Wolves in the Walls' by Neil Gaiman. The children have been enjoying Neil Gaiman's quirky style of writing. They have been using drama to help them to understand the events in the story.

Join our Saturday Music Club at Band on the Wall!

BANDON THEWALL

Saturdays during term times are dedicated to our Music Club, where young people aged 8-18 take over our learning spaces to play, learn, and discover music.

We're open to all ages and abilities, and you don't need to read music to join in.

Discovery Club is our younger group for ages 8-12, where you will play percussion, try your hand at fiddle, tin whistle or guitar, and learn to play in small groups as well as together.

Develop your skills, your rhythm and have fun! If you play an instrument already, bring it along! We also provide a free pizza lunch at the end of the session.

We also get to perform in the main venue at the end of our summer and winter terms to celebrate with friends and family.

Sessions run from 10:15-12:00 and cost £4, and we also run a beginners guitar lesson beforehand from 09:45-10:45 for an additional £4. Full bursaries are available.

Please note that spaces are limited for both of these, and we offer spaces on a first come, first served basis. If you'd like to sign up, email learning@bandonthewall.org to find out more!

We are currently on our half term break, and will be resuming sessions again on Saturday 1st March

What Parents & Educators Need to Know about SCAMS AND FAKE NEWS

WHAT ARE THE RISKS?

"Fake news" refers to falsified or misleading material presented as a legitimate account of events. It's often used by malicious actors online to push an agenda, or even by criminals as a way of making scams more persuasive. Scammers can trick us into handing over personal information, security details and even our hard-earned cash.

"CLICKBAIT" PHISHING SCAMS

A message arrives saying "Have you seen this video of yourself?" or you might be sent an attention-grabbing headline about a celebrity that's been shared on social media. This kind of "bait" is produced by scammers to drive us to click on an unsafe link, where malware could be downloaded to our devices. These scams rely on our curiosity and our "need-to-know" instinct.

SALES, DEALS & DISCOUNTS

Some scams appear as adverts, offering a chance to buy something – such as designer products, expensive gadgets or tickets to a popular show – at a reduced price. Such plays often include a time limit or countdown, urging us to hurry so we don't miss out on the deal. This pressure encourages us to input personal details or payment information before pausing to check if it's legitimate.

YOU'RE A WINNER!

This kind of scam involves fake giveaways, opportunities or freebies. It could be a message saying we've won a prize draw or competition. Or it could be a gift, free trial, bonus credit, and suchlike. It might claim that a package or refund is waiting. All these techniques are used to prompt us to share our personal information, thinking that there's something to be gained by doing so.

FALSE FRIENDSHIPS

Scammers often pretend to be someone they're not to gain their victims' trust. They might attempt to convince any children they connect with that they're a child of similar age with shared interests. Warning signs include a high volume of messages (often with an intense tone), secrecy, inappropriate levels of intimacy, guilt tripping, emotional manipulation, threats or blackmail.

PANIC MODE

To trigger a sense of panic, scammers may claim that a child's account has been hacked, or a virus has been installed on their device, or any number of other scary scenarios. They may claim to be able to fix the problem or offer a solution – if the child hands over control of the device or sensitive information. Similar scams involve impersonating a friend or relative, claiming that they're in trouble and need help.

FAKE CELEBRITY ENDORSEMENTS

Impersonating influential people online is a common tactic for scammers, who can use technology to create fake photos, audio and even videos that look authentic. These can be used to convince us, for example, to buy products, sign up for so-called "business opportunities" or invest in cryptocurrency schemes – all of which are fake or otherwise malicious. Many scams also involve the impersonation of popular companies' social media accounts, as well as those of individuals.

Advice for Parents & Educators

STAY INFORMED

Stay up to date with the latest information and best practice on cyber-security. See what scam stories are reported in the news and make note of what tactics were used. Keep up with young people's digital lives: talk about what they're doing online and use properly endorsed resources to learn what risks certain sites and apps pose to their younger users.

ENCOURAGE HEALTHY SCEPTICISM

Most scams rely on emotional or psychological manipulation, tapping into our human instincts – whether that's to keep ourselves safe, help others, find answers, make friends, avoid losing out or to secure something we really want. Encourage children to recognise that pressure to act and to always consult with an adult – especially if what's on offer sounds too good to be true.

TALK TOGETHER

Chat often and openly with young people about fake news, online scams and how they both work. Encourage them to talk to you about anything they're unsure of or worried about online. If a child claims to have been scammed, don't pass judgement. Blaming the victim may deter young people from asking you for help. Remember: adults are scammed just as often, if not more.

BE PROACTIVE

Children increasingly use digital devices for education, socialising, shopping and play. Don't wait for a problem to arise before you discuss the risk of scams, false information and fake news. Highlight what to look out for and clearly communicate under what circumstances the child ought to speak to an adult. Finally, ensure that they're aware of the support services that are available to them (such as Childline).
